

HR Attrition Analysis

DASHBOARD

HR ATTRITION ANALYSIS

TOTAL EMPLOYEES

1,470

AVERAGE SALARY

6.50K

ATTRITION COUNT

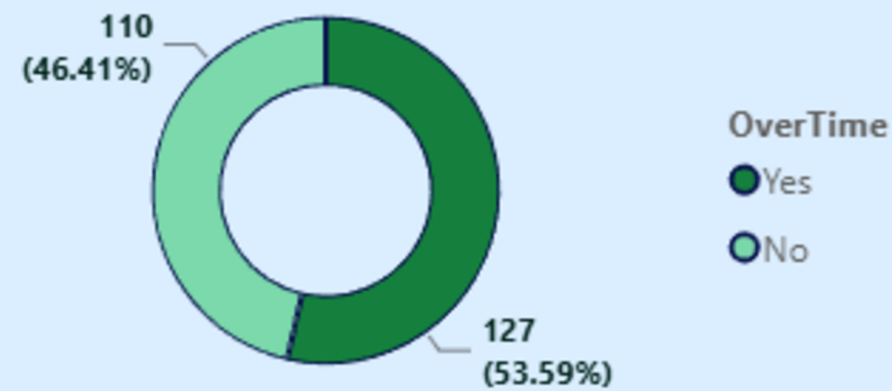

237

ATTRITION RATE

16.12%

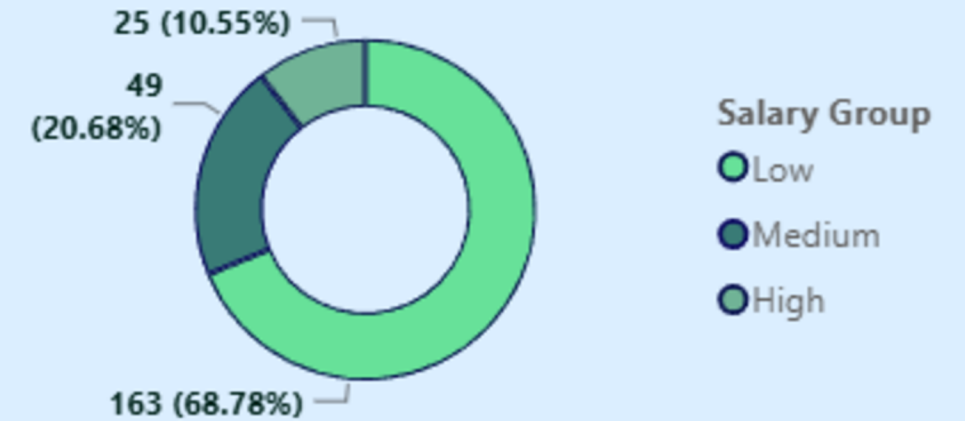

Attrition by OverTime

Attrition by Department

Attrition by Salary Group

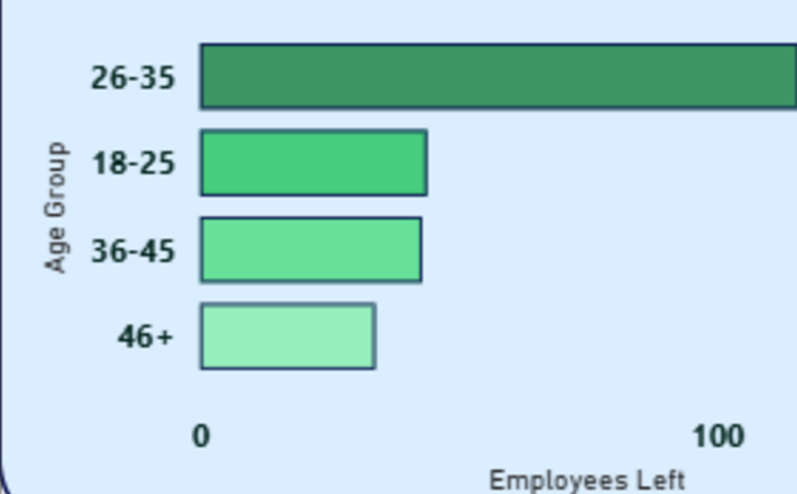

Attrition by Job Role

Attrition by Tenure

Attrition by Age Group

Business Problem

Employee attrition increases recruitment costs, impacts productivity, and affects workforce stability. This project aims to identify the key factors driving employee turnover and provide insights to improve employee retention.

Dataset Link: <https://www.kaggle.com/pavansubhasht/ibm-hr-analytics-attrition-dataset>

Tools used :

- Power BI
- Power Query
- DAX
- Data Visualization

Business Questions

Q. Which department has the highest attrition?

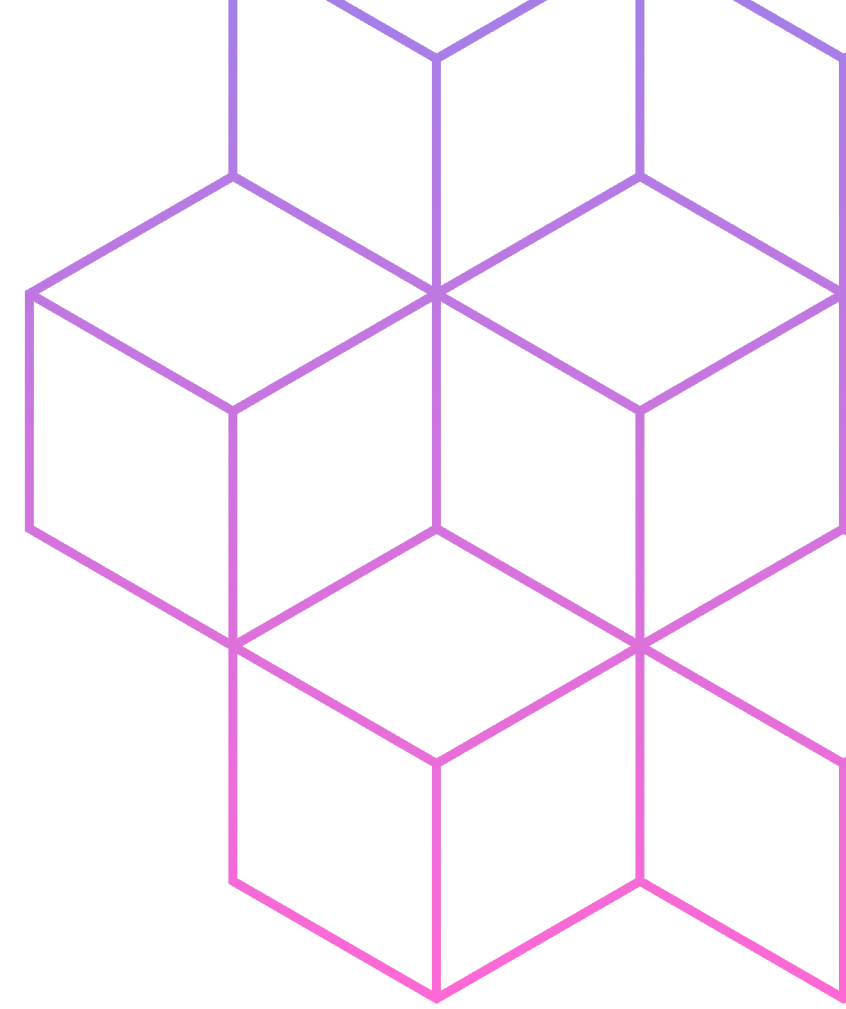

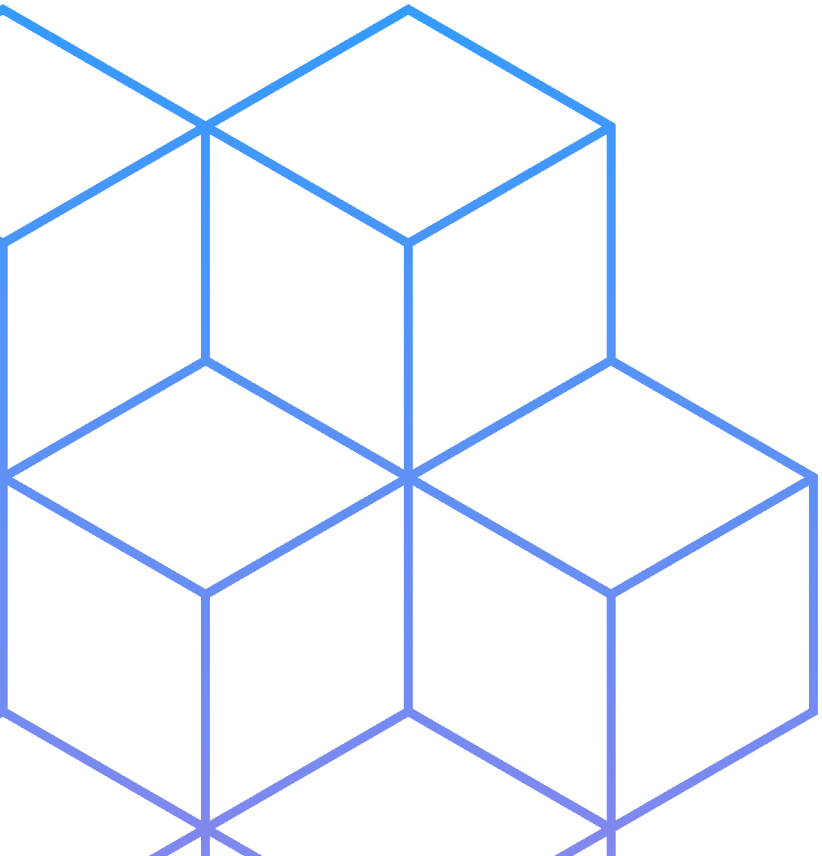

Q. Is attrition related to overtime?

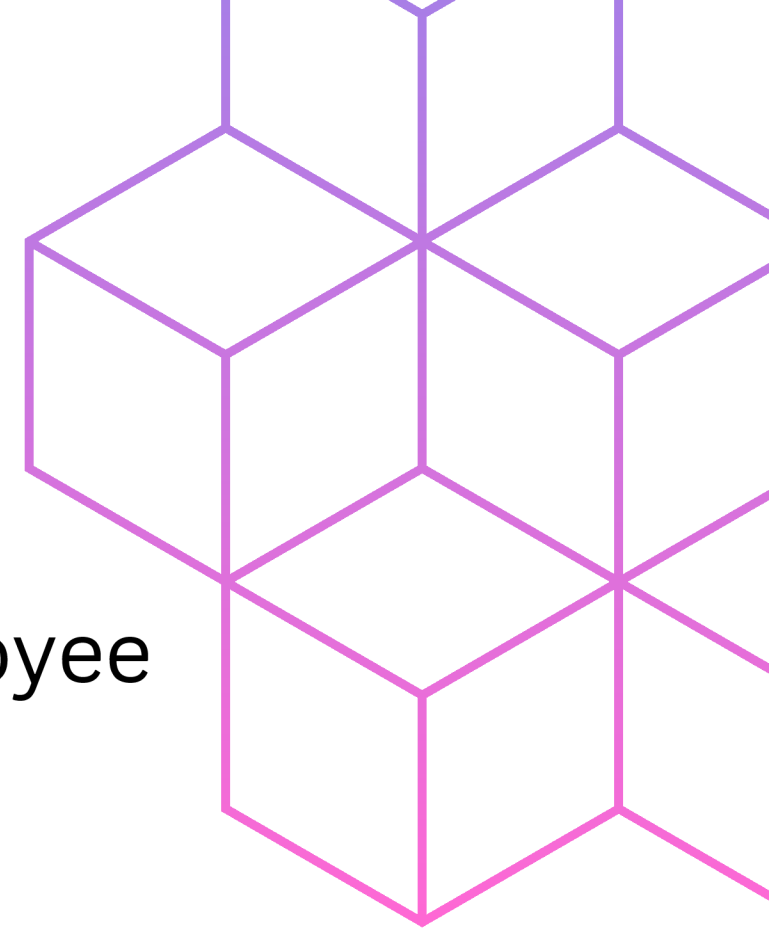

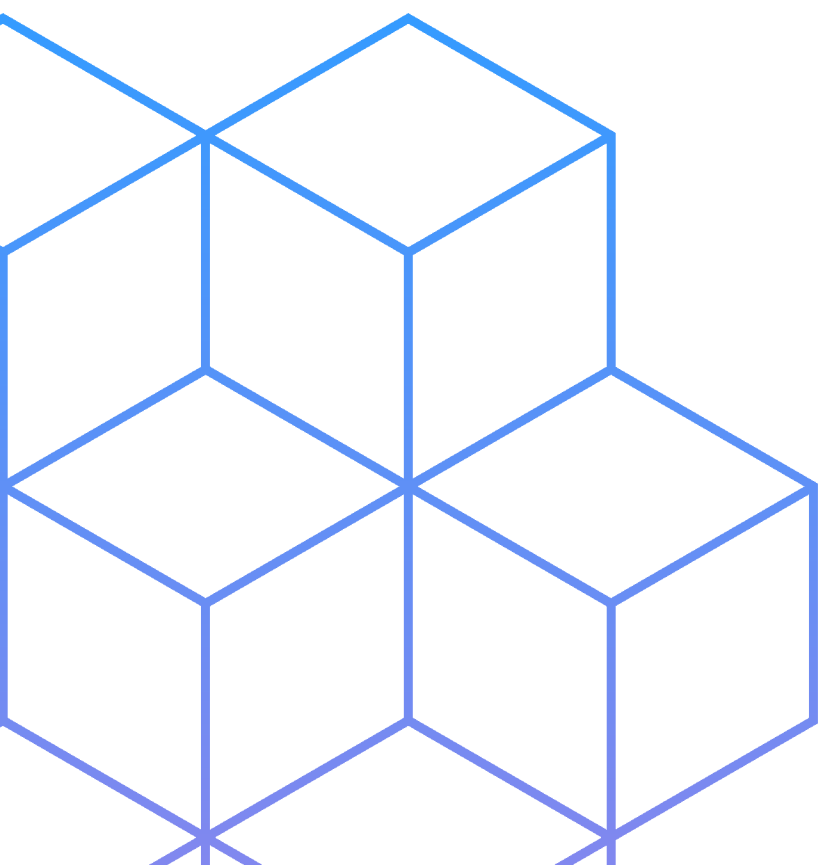

Q. Does salary influence attrition?

Q. Which job roles are most affected?

Q. Which age group has the highest attrition?

Q. When are employees most likely to leave?

Key Insights

- Research & Development recorded the highest employee attrition.
- Overtime employees showed higher attrition.
- Low salary group had the highest attrition.
- Laboratory Technicians had the highest attrition.
- Most attrition occurred within the first 2 years.
- Employees aged 26–35 had the highest attrition.

Retention Strategies

- Reduce excessive overtime to improve work-life balance.
- Strengthen onboarding and support for new employees.
- Review compensation and benefits for lower salary groups.
- Focus retention efforts on high-attrition job roles.
- Provide career growth and development opportunities.

